ATR VERDICT: MOONBOOTZ has filled second place in all three of his previous starts and he bumped into a useful rival over 7f here on the most recent of those occasions. The son of No Nay Never should be take plenty of beating once again this afternoon. Turquoise Kingdom has yet to live up to his 500,000gns price tag but he should be capable of making the frame, while Mount Mayon is a newcomer to note.

ATR VERDICT: STATE CROWN has made the frame in both of his previous outings over hurdles and the son of New Approach could take plenty of stopping off an opening mark of 116 today, especially with a 12lb age allowance as well. Right Hand Of God is another handicap debutant who could go well, while any market support for Bard Of Brittany on his return to action would have to be noted.

ATR VERDICT: NEWBOLT made a winning debut on the Fibresand over C&D a month ago and could make it back-to-back victories today having been raised just 6lb for that win. Amadeus Grey has won twice over this track and trip in recent months and he is an obvious threat to the selection. All of the remainder have claims but Variyann is arguably the pick of them.

ATR VERDICT: ANNUAL INVICTUS has impressed in victory the last twice for Chris Gordon and could land the hat-trick now upped in distance. The six-year-old has a double penalty to contend with, but does have the benefit of past course-winning experience and could be up to the challenge. Dorking Lad has been keen in his races and showed that trait again when second at Market Rasen earlier this week, while Albert Hucklebuck, a stablemate to the selection, is also considered.

ATR VERDICT: SPRING ROMANCE's winning run was ended here last month but he was far from disgraced in second and seems to be thriving on his racing. Frederick Larson removes a valuable 7lb and the six-year-old is fancied to regain the winning thread. Vape beat the selection on that occasion but isn't sure to confirm that running from stall one on worse terms. Pull Harder Con was a little disappointing here four weeks ago but remains capable of better on Fibresand.

ATR VERDICT: Benevolentdictator stays well and is interesting on a hat-trick for local handler Gary Moore, while Dawson City is a standing dish in these staying races and looked the winner everywhere but the line when second in a similar contest at Exeter last month. A tentative vote instead goes the way of SALTY BOY, whose third behind Sam's Adventure at Haydock looks strong form. The eight-year-old remains on a mark of 125 and appears handicapped to strike soon for David Bridgwater.

Top Tip: SALTY BOY (4)

Watch out for: DAWSON CITY (5)
