ATR VERDICT: With a mark of 103 EMPORIO should prove hard to beat in this. The Zoffany gelding takes a drop in class now having run a cracker to finish fifth in the Irish 2,000 Guineas at the Curragh last month. He had some very strong maiden form prior to that and can open his account now. Metaphorical also has some solid maiden form, and was third at Gowran on his return, but with a mark of 79 he has a fair bit to find with the selection. Money for the Joseph O'Brien-trained Hillcrest Avenue would be interesting. The Australia gelding was fifth in a barrier trial at Dundalk last September and the second, third and fourth that day have all won since.

ATR VERDICT: GREGORY'S GIFT is generally ridden from off the pace so a wide draw shouldn't matter much and he might be able to stay on well enough to get involved. Although still a maiden, he has shown that he has a race in him and Willie Byrne was on board when Seamus Fahey's gelding was beaten a nose off a 6lb lower mark at Limerick last term. Mary Salome will be up 5lb in future handicaps so is understandably turned out quickly after beating all bar the gambled-on No More Porter over 6f at the Curragh on Wednesday. Kew Palace chased home a subsequent winner at Tipperary before disappointing last time, while the consistent Musalsal, placed in four of his last five starts, is another to consider.

ATR VERDICT: Austin Leahy always has his horses primed for races at Listowel and ASK DELANEY can be given a chance on last year's form. He was a winner at Tipperary before finishing fourth at the Harvest Festival meeting here, and a line can be drawn through his recent outing at Roscommon where his saddle slipped early on. Crystal Pool made the breakthrough at Gowran but is up 9lb in the ratings as a result, while Spring Morning shaped encouragingly when third on her seasonal and handicap debut in April and Shane Foley rides again. Slieve Bernagh was very consistent at this sort of level last season and indicated that he might be returning to form when fifth over a bit further at Cork last time.
