ATR VERDICT: RITA THE CHEETAH finished lame after scoring over this C&D on debut in October, and ran well enough in fourth when probably facing a stiff task under a penalty on her return over 6f at Lingfield in February. Much better is expected back at this venue and trip, and she is narrowly preferred to Tantastic, who produced her best effort so far when a one-length second in a novice stakes over this track and trip early last month, before a good placed effort at Haydock. Simply Slew rates best of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: HIGHEST AMBITION was too keen for his own good when making his return at Nottingham last month but his two efforts at this course have seen him finish second and the son of Siyouni is capable of getting off the mark at the fifth attempt. Lion Ring showed some promise on all three outings at Dundalk when with Mick Halford and could be an interesting purchase for Jane Chapple-Hyam, having cost 28,000gns at the Tattersalls sale in February, while a 4lb rise is unlikely to stop Signora Princess from being competitive following her success at Catterick in April.

ATR VERDICT: LADYWOOD has been slightly disappointing on her last couple of starts on turf but she had landed a hat-trick on the all-weather, which included a victory here in January, and the return to an artificial surface might bring about the improvement needed. Kalma shaped when third at Nottingham as though the extra couple of furlongs here would aid her cause, while Envega could have more to offer following her return when also finishing third at the aforementioned venue.

ATR VERDICT: MARGARET DUMONT didn't appreciate fast ground when a tailed-off last at Doncaster in April so the return to the all-weather could see the filly bounce back to form. Live Your Dream bumped into a well-handicapped rival when second at York last time and he remains capable of further improvement, while The Olympian could step forward from his first run on the level in over two years at Newmarket last month.

ATR VERDICT: BEYOND INFINITY produced his best effort when runner-up at Chelmsford last month and the slight drop in trip could help in his bid to gain a first career success. Diamond Jill won on her most recent outing over C&D and she has to be respected despite a 4lb rise for that success, while others for the shortlist include Pearly Prince, who was third in that aforementioned contest here, and Forus.

Top Tip: BEYOND INFINITY (3)

ATR VERDICT: TRICORN is unbeaten in two starts since the cheekpieces went on (worn again tonight) and won with enough in hand at Hamilton last time to suggest that he can defy a further 6lb rise in the ratings. He is proven here, as is Ayr Poet, who placed in class 4 company at Musselburgh latest and should give another good account with his sights lowered. Zeimaam sports first-time cheekpieces and is unlikely to be far away either.

ATR VERDICT: MODULAR MAGIC ended last season with a couple of decent efforts on the all-weather at Newcastle and the return to fast ground on turf might unlock further improvement from the four-year-old. Tanasoq finished third over C&D last Wednesday and has the advantage of Harry Russell's 5lb claim, which is likely to make him competitive. A repeat of Major Pusey's recent display when fourth at Hamilton can see him enter the reckoning too.
