Long Handicap: Young Fitzy 9 - 11

ATR VERDICT: YOUNG FITZY is somewhat unexposed and has a light weight following a win in an ordinary Tramore maiden recently. He failed to complete in four point-to-points but has progressed over hurdles and beat a point-to-point winner in an unplaced maiden at Tramore. He is open to improvement, is rated just 102 and should cope with softer ground. Navan handicap hurdle winner Big King is a capable type who ran well in defeat on his latest starts and should run well on reappearance. Ena Baie was well enough held on her latest starts but ran two nice races last April while Andratx, a four-time winner, has useful hurdles form and likes soft. Thousand Tears won at Killarney in July and would prefer a sound surface. Endlessly debuts for new connections on his first run since May while Awkwafina was well held at Tramore in April but goes well on testing ground and was capable last term.

Top Tip: YOUNG FITZY (8)

Watch out for: BIG KING (3)

ATR VERDICT: KICKING PRINCESS has run really well in a couple of decent maiden hurdles since joining Eoin McCarthy and can get her head in front now. She has been third on her last two outings over timber and has been mixing it with some smart mares. This looks like a nice opportunity to get a win under her belt now. Gordon Elliott has a couple in this and it's interesting that Jamie Codd sticks with Scarlet Witch, who has won a point-to-point and showed some promise when sixth on her debut under Rules in a Listowel bumper last month. Diamondinthemud has been placed in a couple of bumpers recently and is another that has to come into calculations.

ATR VERDICT: LADY EXCALIBUR created quite an impression when winning on her debut at Stratford in July and, despite failing to build on that when runner-up at Uttoxeter nine days ago, the daughter of Camelot still looks one to follow. Miss Chantelle shaped as though the run would do her the world of good when finishing third on her racecourse bow at Fakenham in March and can step up on her return, while the newcomers Blue Suede Shoes and Sorceress Medea both represent top connections and are potential dangers.

Top Tip: LADY EXCALIBUR (3)
